

COMMUNITY PHARMACY WELLNESS DIALOGUES

Informed • Reassurance • Choice

Sharing the Learning

Community pharmacists held a series of online and live discussions with people from Black African and Black Caribbean communities across south east London throughout August to discuss with local people how to self-care and how to improve wellness as well as explain the role of community pharmacy in helping people look after their own health.

In this one hour session we will share what we found out from local communities and explore and discuss what we learnt from this approach about the potential of community pharmacists in engaging with their communities to support wellness at a local level.
